Last Dangerous Vision

At his Saturday afternoon program, after using a microphone to physically attack the video camera attempting to record his presentation, and in which in true form he verbally attacked most every- and anyone, Harlan Ellison announced that this was going to be his last convention. Harlan claims that, given his age and how long he's been attending cons, he wants to spend more time at his home on a hill.

Declassified Notices

I wanted to make sure everyone knows how truly awesome Children's Programming has been! My daughter chose to stay in CP rather than to go to Disneyland. THANK YOU for such fabulous programming. Nance Holder

Lost - Silver colored wedding ring. Plain brushed silver band. Lost in convention center. Please turn in to con Lost & Found or call Stu 908-693-1300.

Missing - spiral notebook 5x8½" with tan cardboard cover, containing notes on panels, last seen in CC-207 ABC (Ellison).
 Please return to Infodesk.
JEShannon

Tech crew is concerned that someone lost their pet beer - we hope the owner recognizes it from the description: 3 cans of Budweiser in original plastic 6-pack holder; 3 cans Bud left at Lost & Found.
S Sieler - Tech crew

Found - Cap Embroidered "London England". Owner can re-claim it from Dave
 "Red Jacket" Kyle.

To all of you helping me find my cell phone: it has been found! Thank you.
Lisa Deutsch Harrigan

Mobie Returns

Scooter wheelchair returns will be in the convention center until 9pm Sun and 8am-10am Mon. They MUST be returned by 10am Monday as they are being picked up by the vendor at that time.
Sally Woehrle - Handicapped Services

Consuite

Just in from the national weather service:
 A cool arctic wind will be slicing through the Hilton Consuite (5-324, the far end of the suite) Sunday at 2pm. Please stop by and help us lick this potentially sticky situation!

Due to recent events in the field of science, the Consuite will not be hosting the 'Dead Dog Party'. The Consuite will be hosting the 'Dead Pluto Party', which will start Sunday at 7pm.

Overseen

Seen in a women's room at the hotel - two of us frantically & uselessly waving our hands under faucets with handles.

Oops! My Bad!

Crossword puzzle question #248 down should have been "Radon atomic number" which is 86. Gordon Garb gets full credit for the original incorrect data. (And me for not checking!)

Hair Off

Locks of Love totals for Saturday $264.22, and 22 hair donations, for a con total of $602 and 48 hair donations. Thanks to all who donated. We'll see you in Denver in 2008.
Lora

Blood Feast

The probing aliens would like to thank everyone who donated at the American Red Cross Blood Drive this Friday and Saturday. We collected a total of 57 donations.

The winners of the raffle are:
$30 Barnes&Nobles gift card: Anna Munoz
$100 American Express gift check: Frederic Fuller

The winners may pick up their prizes at the office in the Anaheim Convention Center until the end of the convention. After the convention, they will be mailed to the winners.

As a side note, our first day of our Blood Drive beat out all three days of the Home&Garden Blood Drive. Thank you all who gave or tried to give.
Dennis and Kristine Cherry

Fan Fund Auction

Thank you to everyone who helped make the auction a success! It raised over $1200 for assorted fan funds, and sold the first full membership to Worldcon 2009 -- whoever wins. There are plenty of fanzines still for sale in the Fanzine Lounge over the weekend.

NOTICE: alleycat, could you please contact Suzanne Tompkins about your purchases - she is staying in the Hilton.

Trek-a-Star Revival

This afternoon, Worldcon 64 exhumed (that is to say, revived) the legendary filk parody H.M.S. Trek-a-Star. Melding melodies from Gilbert and Sullivan with words by such illustrious figures as Bjo Trimble, Dorothy Heydt, and Karen Anderson, Trek-a-Star is relentlessly funny, silly, and nearly impossible to perform. Between the wide vocal range and the narrow range of available performers, the most amazing thing about this show is that it can be sung at all, let alone sung as well as these hastily-cast, overworked, but cheerful, patient, saintly, adorable and fine-talented... (stop hitting me already!)

Trek-a-Star was accompanied by a new technical innovation: the Unreliable-Midi. This replaced the old innovation: the Unreliable-Pianist, always found near the Unreliable-Piano. The cast included Mari Bangs as the not-quite-typecast (she's a GIRL, already!) Captain Kirk, showing proper swagger, stepping in at the proverbial last minute to save the day. The lovely, lovelorn Yeoman Rand was beautifully acted by the talented (cut out with the whip, dammit!!) Susan Lee from Chicago. Spock was charmingly portrayed by Mike Stein. Mitchell Burnside-Clapp was Chekov, and the obligatory BEM was Barry Gold.

The musical quality of the performance could be fairly compared to George Crumb, containing unusual entrances, unexpected sounds, and harmonies of the sort that nobody outside of atonal music could possibly appreciate.

If you weren't there, you missed a rollicking good time, even if you didn't exactly miss the next American Idol.
Moira Stein

P.S. And a really big thank you to the Adventurer's Club for providing the wonderful back drop and the Haystack costume.
RickWeiss

If anyone videotaped HMS Trek-a-Star Saturday afternoon, please leave contact info with the Filk lounge (H-San Clemente) or e-mail RickWeiss at filk@laconiv.org. The cast desperately wants a copy!

Cross-Trading

I have most of the answers to the "Cross-Worlds" puzzle, and would like to trade with other solvers for the ones I don't have. They can leave me a Voodoo Board message or stop me in the hall (look for the cape covered with silly buttons).
Petréa Mitchell

Honeymooners

James P. Hogan stopped at Las Vegas on the way to Worldcon and got married. The name of the better half is Sheryl. Well-wishers are welcome to stop them and stand a drink anytime.

We're working on finishing #15 so we can get to work on #14.
SayNothing...

TO SAY NOTHING OF THE NEWS #15 - edited by Jan van't Ent, publisher Chaz Boston Baden.

Assistance by Colleen Crosby, Paul Fischer, David Gibbs, Susan de Guardiola, golden, Wilf James, Martha Holloway, Tamie Inoue, Craig Jones, Sean Leonard, Sachiyo Matsushita, Arlene Satin, Adam Tilghman, and Vanessa Van Wagner.

Distribution via Pan-Galactic Express couriers. Team includes Pearl 'Kiki' Newton, Ben Massoglia, Maria Rodriguez, Chaos Savitzky, Nicholas Hipp, Scott Hipp, Connor Foss, Roadkill, Phil Wellbon, Caitlin Long, and Alex Aronson.

This was the final issue of the newsletter so no need to drop off news items anymore - you can look for back issues on the website in a couple of days after we wound down from all the printer-cranking. So long and thanks for all the fish (see you for sushi next time?)

Chaz says: Thanks for all of the hard work, folks. I hardly had to do a thing.
